

Indianapolis Museum of Art

---

Client: Indianapolis Museum of Art

Project Location: Indianapolis, IN

Services Provided: Civil Engineering, Project Management and Owner's Representation

Completion Date: May 2005

Project Construction Cost: $72 million

---

The Indianapolis Museum of Art needed to expand, while also renovating existing spaces. The scope of services included coordination and oversight of the project designer and construction manager, as well as off-site projects requiring coordination with the City of Indianapolis, such as traffic and intersection improvements.

The program management approach to this project focused on the creation of an efficient communication model, streamlining of the program/design development review process budget accountability and refinement of the decision making process.

Architects + Engineers